LIZZIE WATTS ATTEMPTS TO COWHIE.—A PITTSBURGH REPORTER.—Lizzie Watt, the young woman who was charged with robbing Mr. Murray, in this city, some months ago, and who afterwards attempted to lecture in Washington Hall but failed for want of an audience, is still making a noise in the world. She seems to be composed of very combustible material and is all the time doing naughty things and getting into naughty scrapes. The Pittsburgh papers of yesterday morning came to us with glowing accounts of an attempt on the part of Lizzie to cowhite Mr. O'Neill, of the Chronicle, on Tuesday evening. The True Press says:

For some weeks, the Botheonian Dramatic Company have been playing at Connelly's Hall, and other amusement places, some months ago, and who afterwards attempted to lecture in Washington Hall but failed for want of an audience, is still making a noise in the world. She seems to be composed of very combustible material and is all the time doing naughty things and getting into naughty scrapes. The Pittsburgh papers of yesterday morning came to us with glowing accounts of an attempt on the part of Lizzie to cowhite Mr. O'Neill, of the Chronicle, on Tuesday evening. The True Press says:

The closing of the Botheonian was made the subject of a few "general remarks," by Daniel O'Neill, Esq., of the Chronicle, in his local column of Tuesday. The costume of Miss Watt was criticised, and it was intimated that her personation of "Eve" was quite natural. Lizzie, it seems, was highly offended at reading the article, and she determined to cowhite the author. Accordingly, she sought Mr. O'Neill at the office, but failing to find him there, she had the audacity to invade the sanctity of his dwelling, backed and abetted by the late manager of the Botheonian, Mr. T. C. Jones. Lizzie rang the bell violently, and upon the call being answered, she demanded an interview with Mr. O'Neill. She was told that he was not in, but this did not seem to satisfy her. A parley ensued, during which Mr. O'Neill came up street, towards his dwelling. Lizzie immediately attacked him, when he kindly advised her to leave the premises, as he did not wish to lay his hand upon a woman. This magnanimity did not suffice the infuriated Lizzie, and with her left hand she grabbed the pendant goatee of the dignified reporter, while with her right she raised aloft the ever pliant and ever dreaded cowhide.

It was at a critical moment. To strike a woman would be unmanly, but to suffer such an indignity at the hands of one who had unsexed herself, and was scarcely entitled to the appellation of woman, would have been most pusillanimous. Mr. O'Neill, it is said, did slap Lizzie in the face, and gave her to understand that she could not play the Amazon with him. Lizzie's backer, Mr. Jones, finding that she was not likely to succeed in her mission, advanced to the rescue, and struck her once or twice—not doing him any material damage. At this stage of the affair, a goodly crowd had collected, and the police had also been attracted by the excitement. In the twinkling of an eye, Lizzie and her comrade, Mr. Jones, with two other male members of the company, were on their way to the lock-up, where they were suffered to remain during the night, to answer a hearing this morning, at eight o'clock.

IN THE STATION HOUSE, Miss Watt's conduct is represented as absolutely frantic. She continued to read sentences from the offensive articles in the Chronicle, characterizing each assertion as a lie, and called Mr. O'Neill a loutish-bound and a black-guard. Reporting in Pittsburgh she was to be a hard way of serving the Lord.

WEDNESDAY MARKET.—If all the people in town had been out of beef and pork, there was enough in the market this morning to have satisfied their carnivorous appetites for three whole days. Everywhere was beef and pork, and pork and beef. The farmers may be killing off their cattle on account of short supplies of feed, but we should judge from the looks of the meat that they had not spared the corn, for we don't recollect to have set eyes on better looking or fatter meat in a long time. Beef at 30¢ per lb. for the quarter for, and 40¢ for hind. Pork was selling at 40¢ for hog round. We saw a small quantity of veal venison at 12 cts. per lb. Eggs sold at 18 cts. per dozen; butter 15 cts. per lb.; geese 37 cts. apiece; turkeys, dressed, 60 cts.; corn meal, yellow, 17 cts. per peck, white, 22 cts.; apples 20 cts. per peck; potatoes 15 cts.; sound corn 60 cts. per bushel; oats 40 cts.

STOLEN GOODS FOUND.—Officer Lancaster, in hunting through East Wheeling, yesterday, after the jewelry recently stolen from the Seminary, found concealed in a little shanty a number of towels, bolsters and pillow slips, supposed to have been stolen. The goods can be examined to-day at Ald. Quigley's office, and losers are requested to call and prove property and take the things away.

THE WEATHER.—Dealers in coals, just now, are rather low-spirited. The weather continues very moderate, and anything more than very small fires entirely superfluous. So far we have an open fall, and winter, unless it comes soon, will be short of a large portion of its terrors.

DISORDERLY.—A young gentleman from Bethany, was arrested, yesterday, and fined before Ald. Wright, for disorderly conduct. Some of those Bethany chaps are in the habit of coming down here, every once in a while, and letting off more steam than is consistent with the peace and dignity of this bailiwick.

THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER will be out this morning, teeming with news and miscellaneous reading matter. We have printed a large extra edition to meet the usual demand.

Local incidents, yesterday were extremely dull. A more quiet and orderly day no one need desire.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

"THE BEST THING I CAN GET," so said a gentleman a day or two since, in reference to "Dr. Grath's Electric Oil." An experience of some years, has satisfied the community that for sprains, bruises, felons, neuralgia, swellings, and pains of all sorts, the Electric Oil "beats the world" of liniments. CORROR SEVERE rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misused philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a picture, let it be a portrait of a man, and they will not hesitate to give it their noble and generous approval. The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician, concerning the virtues of HOSKINS' REMEDY, as they have purchased quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as a remedy superior to all other remedies for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhoea, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hoskins' name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shore of the Atlantic to the Pacific, and has been testified to by all druggists in the world.
